Comment/Justification:

Kind of an argument talking about the two books totalitarianism government. You need to make it stronger so your evidence looks great.

2. Uses evidence (that is, presents proof that you thought through the data to come to your conclusion)

1.....2.....3.....4.....5

Comment/Justification:

This would be great evidence to a great argument about totalitarianism. There's not really an argument but if there was this would be great evidence! Using evidence from the book and it was string points also.

3. Comes to a reasoned conclusion (provides analysis of the data)

1.....2.....3.....4.....5

Comment/Justification:

Not much conclusion made here. Not really an argument made in this paper that's why. Mainly comparing and contrasting the two books. But comes to a conclusion both are in a totalitarianism society in which feed had more freedom than 1984.

Is aesthetically pleasing (grammar ok, meets paper constraints, good paragraph structure, etc)

Comment/Justification:

LMeets one page requirement. Uses good grammar and not really any punctuation errors made. Very good for this.
